

To W. O. from Dr. Flick.

Philadelphia,
November 27, 1903.

My dear Dr. Osler:

One of the men whom I have invited to dinner, Dr. Jas. C. Wilson, had a previous engagement to dine at the same hour at the University Club with Dr. Fisher. I would be glad to have you name some friend whom you would like to have invited in his place.

There is indeed a great mess about the tuberculosis business. Clark Bell is going to have a Congress and so is Lewis, but I think neither of them will have any tuberculosis men present. They will catch the unwary but the men who are worth listening to mostly will stay away. I am interested to see how far they will go in their wild undertaking.

Yours truly,

Lawrence F. Flick.
